

SUNSET SWAP

Every Sunday, bright and early, vendors descend upon the Sunset drive-in theater to sell token items they've selected for the public. Whether it be food, clothing, tools, or toys the Sunset Swap Meet in San Luis Obispo encourages a host of items. Each individual harnesses a different level of dedication to whatever they're selling and a unique sense of charisma. By weaving through the expansive lot, one can meet a handful of new faces and form lasting friendships with its most dedicated sellers—while shopping, of course.

roslyn yeager